Interested in learning more about Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD)?

VCS Exceptional Student Education/Student Services Department in collaboration with FDLRS will be accepting applications for a FREE series of courses for educational professionals seeking to enhance their knowledge of current topics and evidence-based practices essential for working with students with ASD. This 240-hour ESE professional learning includes courses and field experiences.

Educators interested in participating in the cohort must complete an application. Applications are due by 8/23/19. Priority will be given to applicants who are committed to completing the entire program and those currently working with students with ASD. Weekly attendance in each course is required.

Teachers certified in Exceptional Student Education can elect to add the ASD Endorsement to their teaching certificate for a fee. Completing an application does not guarantee acceptance in the cohort. All courses count for ESE credit.
