Annual Literacy Coaching Reboot Camp

June 10th – 14th, 2019

To improve transdisciplinary literacy acquisition and multi-sensory instruction in a school, coaches and teacher leaders must work with administrators and teacher-colleagues to develop a common language and plan for coherent instruction. This reboot camp is designed to help coaches and teacher leaders develop communication skills to work with teacher-colleagues and work through adaptive challenges. Teacher leaders will learn how to use professional resources to improve student-centered coaching practices on a continuum of professional learning opportunities.

Reboot camp benefits:

- Examine the role of the coach as a catalyst for teacher leadership in collaboration with administration.
- Engage teacher-colleagues on the effectiveness of multi-sensory transdisciplinary literacy instruction.
- Design effective student-centered coaching cycles with teacher-colleagues.
- Employ generative student-centered coaching on a continuum of professional learning opportunities.
- Use student-centered language that promotes transdisciplinary literacy acquisition and instruction.
- Use professional resources effectively to support student-centered multi-sensory instruction.
- Investigate multi-tiered systems of support that promote transdisciplinary literacy acquisition.

Comments from literacy coaches that have attended:

“The experience was enlightening. I cannot wait to go back to my district and begin applying the concepts and knowledge gained from the week. I think this will transform the idea of literacy coaching in the district and will have a large and lasting impact on teachers and students.”

“This has been one of the most powerful learning experiences! I would highly recommend attending as a team to facilitate a shared vision for literacy coaching through common, intentional language. This reboot camp has open our eyes to so many opportunities to affect change for all students, teachers, support personnel and administrators in our district. Thank you!”
